PROVO CITY, JUNE 27, 1895

ALABAMA KENTUCKY.

And has the proud, the mighty commonwealth of Kentucky really and truly surrendered to the gold bug? It really seems that it has. The Cleveland and Carlisle forces out-voted the Blackburn free silver forces in the convention. If this is taken to be the indication of the real condition of the democracy in Kentucky, we believe an injustice will be done, because we are perfectly assured that upon a direct test there, unconnected with personal and administrative considerations the majority of Kentucky democrats will be found in favor of the free coinage of silver. As little as we may be inclined to concede it, John G. Carlisle is a strong man in Kentucky, and this, joined to the great strength of the administration among the democrats of that state, was sufficient to place the democratic convention in the hands of the goldites.

It is a severe draught to the western democrats and indicates plain that anything which has yet happened that the cause of silver is a bad bug. The fight for remonetization is not won yet. A hard and close contest must yet be waged for many years to come, we fear. However, poverty and business distress from this on, and these with the natural predilections of the democracy for silver will ultimately win the victory unless revolution sooner steps in to intervene, in which case free coinage will come in a night and the country will return to its allegiance to the national authority. It is this immediate and pressing danger of revolution now which sickens patriots everywhere. Sound money is a good thing but this is not the question. It is money of any kind, or subject to any kind of money, that is the question. It is money that will have sound money. The fault of the goldites is they affect to believe and actually teach that there is no sound money save gold, or a gold note. We of the west and south believe with equal earnestness that gold and silver is hard to beat as money. Kentucky by her democratic convention only says that for the present, she throws her vote for Carlisle and Cleveland, and reserves the settlement of the money question for some future day.

This is of course unfortunate in the light of any possible early settlement of the great question. As it is, one-half of our already meagre store of money is blotted out and there is not in sight, at least in the west, the trade and commerce which is necessary in order that we may keep our wheels moving until remonetization comes. This will give us pinching times for many long years, or revolution speedy and sure. However it may be said that the result in Kentucky does not actually precipitate upon us this truly doleful situation. Many other states must act as Kentucky has before we stand in the immediate presence of all of these dire evils. "One swallow does not make a summer," and one state does not fix democratic policy by any means. It is the influence which the result in Kentucky may have on other neighboring democratic states which we fear.

If every man, woman and child in the dark and bloody ground goes to the side of the gold bugs, the principle is not changed in the slightest and it is our duty to stand and fight all the more determinedly for the right. It was a colossal wrong to demonize silver in the first place, it will be a supreme right to restore it. This right is not affected by Kentucky's action, but somehow we would feel safer to know that the serried legions of old Kentucky were fighting by our side rather than on the other side and against us.

The nomination of General Hardin for governor is a bit of comfort to us in our deep distress. While this gentleman received great strength from his personal standing and popularity, yet that was not alone equal to the task of his nomination. Part of the result was induced by his well known position in favor of free coinage. In other words, he received the full support of the free silver men in the convention and this, with his personal popularity, was sufficient. "A half loaf is better than no bread" in politics as in business.

If General Lawler will go back home and make us a visit after the next campaign is decided, we will take great delight in according honors to the commander of the G. A. R. As the order is explicitly declared a non-partisan affair and the vast majority of its membership is republican, our suggestion will be seen to be perfectly fair, nothing else. In those years when important elections are on, all non-partisan influences should do nothing which could be construed as giving advantage to either party. The republican party is inimical to silver, but in Utah all republicans are for silver as well as all other people. General Lawler ought to consent to do nothing which will, or might, possibly, injure his old comrades in the international region.

SENATOR VEST believes that silver ought to be restored or gold declared the money of the land. Something must be done. The present system cannot be continued much longer. Something decisive is needed. This half and half policy is murdering the business of the country. If men of Vest's metal will act in concert we can easily force silver remonetization and gold and silver is good enough money for anybody or any country. How long is it to be that Vest will sulk in his tents? When will he get out into the field and work for silver? The outlook in Kentucky is a little troublesome and now if Vest began for silver in Missouri, things would have a better ring. George C. The hour has struck. Work.

It begins to look as though Cleveland and Carlisle are too strong for Blackburn, and that old Kaintuck will train with the gold bugs this fall. However, it will be more of a personal victory for Carlisle than a silver defeat. There is a little comfort in this view of the case, to be sure.

With the conditions now prevailing in Europe, international bimetalism is worse than goldbuggery. Let us hear no more of this international nonsense. Independent American bimetalism or nothing, is the proper slogan now for the silver people.

SINCE Kentucky, it devolves upon Utah democrats to be even more earnest and determined to win the state for the silver democracy. Utah can and will do her part in the work necessary to undo the havoc in Kentucky.

The Minneapolis Tribune is Mormon mad. It declares that polygamy is rampant in Utah as ever, and if the territory is admitted the people will all be polygamous. This is only urged to defeat the admission of the state.

When Utah's state democratic convention meets the free silver note she will give out, will have nothing obscure or doubtful about it. It will have the ring of the true white metal about it, and no mistake.

In Kentucky only one state has spoken. At Cleveland forty-five states spoke their republican sentiments. This is a brief summing up of the relative importance of the two events.

JUDGE MERRITT is a bit stubborn when he once takes a position. This is a better quality than Judge Shiras exhibited. Shilly-shally is no good thing in a judge.

BENJAMIN HARRISON has at last succeeded in climbing to a college trusteeship. There is hope yet for the hat.

Now, Lord Salisbury, go ahead on silver, and let the English poor silver men have a fair chance, for once.

THE Herald accuses the Tribune of density of mind. This is becoming dreadful.

JUDGE MERRITT is stubborn. He refuses to rip up the Bancroft appointment.

THE Yellow Fever scourge at Santos is something perfectly fearful.

The Ladies.
The pleasant and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

Notice.
The first quorum of elders will meet the first Thursday in every month at 8 o'clock, in the Fourth ward relief society room.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Smoot Drug Co.

Harper's Magazine
In 1895.
The Simplices, a new novel by THOMAS HARDY, will be begun in the December Number, 1895, and continued to November, 1896. Whoever may be one's favorite among English novelists, the magazine is full of stories that THOMAS HARDY stands foremost as a master artist in fiction, and the Simplices may be expected to arouse enthusiasm for fiction in degree to that which has marked "Tribute"—the most successful story of the year. Another leading feature will be the first serial of "The Secret of the Old House," by the author of "The Secret of the Old House," a story which will be the most popular of living American Magazine writers will present the story of the Maid of Orleans. In the January Number will appear a profusely illustrated paper on "The History of the Old House," the first of a series of Southern Papers.

Northern Africa is attracting more attention than any other of our modern colonies, and the next volume of HARPER'S MAGAZINE will contain four illustrated articles on this region, and three of them will depict the present life there. JULIAN RALPH will prepare for the MAGAZINE a series of eight stories, depicting typical phases of Chinese Life and Manners. Besides the long stories, the magazine will contain a number of the first chapters of A Three-Act Novellette, by RICHARD HARRISON DAVIS—the newest work yet attempted by this writer. Complete short stories by popular writers will continue to be a feature of HARPER'S MAGAZINE.

Harper's Weekly
In 1895.
HARPER'S WEEKLY is a pictorial history of the times. It presents every important event promptly, accurately, and exclusively in illustration and descriptive text of the highest quality.

The number in which, during 1894, it has treated the Chicago Railway Strike and the China-Japanese War, and the amount of light it has thrown upon the most important events of the year, are examples of its most boundless resources. The weekly number, published by writer and correspondent, has been sent to the seat of war, and there joined by C. D. WALKER, the well-known American artist, now for many years resident of Japan, who has been engaged to contribute to HARPER'S WEEKLY exclusive information and illustrations.

During 1895 every vital question that is discussed with vigor and without prejudice in the editorial columns, and also in special articles by the highest authorities in each department. Portraits of the men and women who are making the times, and the most characteristic features of the day, will continue to be a feature of the magazine. The most important events of the day, will remain a regular feature.

ALIAS.
SUMMONS—IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE First Judicial District of the territory of Utah, Utah county.

Sarah C. Lewis, plaintiff, vs. William R. Lewis, defendant.
The people of the territory of Utah send greeting to William R. Lewis, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff, in the district court of the First Judicial District of the territory of Utah, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days exclusive of the day of service of this notice on you of this summons—served within this county; or if served out of this county, but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise within forty days—or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to prayer of the complaint.

The said action is brought to obtain a judgment out of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and defendant herein, and that plaintiff have the custody of their minor child, James B. Lewis, and for costs of suit.

Plaintiff alleges that they intermarried at Farmington, New Mexico, on September 20, 1891; that defendant for more than one year last past has wilfully neglected to provide plaintiff with the common necessities of life, and that during the whole period of their married life defendant has abused and treated plaintiff in a cruel and inhuman manner, causing great mental distress and anguish.

For further particulars see certified copy of complaint on file herein.
And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief therein demanded.

Witness, the Hon. William H. King, Judge, and the seal of the district court of the territory of Utah, this 23rd day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five.

W. H. BRASLEY, Clerk.
By GEO. HAYCAM, Deputy Clerk.
Sam A. King, attorney.
